

We Feel Ya Boo!
WEDDING PRIORITY WORKSHEET

Hey Boo! ...we just adore that nickname. Welcome to clearing up the overwhelming feeling of wedding planning. This is stage one. Lets get into it.

Some brides dream of having a gorgeous wedding dress, other want amazing photos that tell their unique love story, while still others would love to have a band and wow their guests. Every bride (every couple) is different in their wedding priorities. Do you know what is most important to you?

Do you have a million ideas running through your head but a budget that is not quite large enough to fit them all?

We got ya girl! We would say almost all brides have a budget weather it be $30,000 or 100,000. That's why establishing a budget and knowing your priorities is so important. Budget is not a fun word, we get it. But knowing your budget gives you the freedom to prioritize and spend money on the things you value most.

Glam On,

The Horns

NOTES

- When I think of my wedding day the first thing that comes to mind is _____ . Followed immediately by _____

- What I want to remember most about my wedding day is _____.

- Three words that describe my wedding style are:
 - Number One: _____
 - Number Two: _____
 - * Number Three: _____

- Below write out how you visually picture your day - big details to small.

ASSIGNMENT

Take a few minutes to rate the below items in order of importance to you (1 to 17, with 1 being the most important). This will help you discover your priorities and allocate your budget on the things that are most important to you.

- _____ Venue or Location
- _____ Photography
- _____ Cinematography
- _____ Invitations
- _____ Wedding Attire (Dress)
- _____ Planner
- _____ Ceremony
- _____ Reception
- _____ Food
- _____ Floral Design
- _____ Cake
- _____ Music
- _____ Decor
- _____ Favors
- _____ Alcohol
- _____ Transportation
- _____ Other

Now that you have your ratings, lets transfer your top 5 and bottom 5 below. This will help you put certain things in perspective and not concentrate so much on how much they cost per say, but how much it was worth to you.

TOP FIVE

BOTTOM FIVE

Does your top five match with your wedding vision and how?

Is there anything in your list you can do?

Thank You

OK Boo,

Now that you have your budget set and your top 5 priorities selected it is time to start selecting the wedding professionals to make your wedding day vision come to life.

Your top 5 priorities are where most of your budget will be spent and then the rest will fall in line. And remember, the easiest way to keep in budget is to cut the guest list down. I know its not always easy to do but it will help you have the wedding day of your dreams.

Your wedding is a huge part of your life, it is the beginning of the rest of your life. The one thing Brandon and I take away most from our grandparents is the love they share and the family they created. It all started with their wedding day.

Just the other day we were looking through old wedding photos and my (Michelle) grandmother said to me - "you know what, I was married more of my life than I was anything else!"

The beauty of love is timeless.